FLIER PERILS EYES IN SEEKING RECORD

Lieut. Soucek Claims New Altitude Mark at Height of 40,000 Feet.

REMOVES ICY GOGGLES

With the world altitude record within his grasp yesterday morning in a flight over the Naval Air Station, Lieut. Apollo Soucek, of the Bureau of Aero-nautics, removed his frozen goggles and braved the peril of losing his eyesight in the subzero temperatures at 40.000 feet, and is believed to have smashed the old record.

Lieut. Soucek had reached 39,000 feet, according to his altimeter, when his goggles became encrusted with an ice that made it impossible for him to steer his plane higher without removing them. Rather than come back to earth without a new record he dis-carded them. A few minutes later the altimeter in the airplane— a Wright Apache—leaped from 39,000 to 40,000 feet. Lieut. Soucek attempted to go farther, but the plane had evidently reached its roof in the rarified air, for it could not pull any higher and it was necessary to begin the descent. The entire trip took 1 hour and 15 minutes, 48 min-utes being required for the ascent.

Reading Completed Today.

When Lieut. Soucek reached the ground Luke Christopher, of the National Aeronautical Association, and H. B. Hendrickson, of the Bureau of Stand ards, were on hand to receive the baro-graph, from which the official readings will be made. Hendrickson is expected to have the readings completed this afternorm

Mrs. R. H. Hamilton, mother of the young widow, Theresa, denied tonight that her daughter had left Austin for Amarillo. Theresa has been confined in a hospital there, recovering from an operation. She was forbidden to go to McAlester to attend the funeral of her husband. An account to the credit of "the Walton fund" has been opened in the Na-tional Bank of Commerce by friends of the Walton family. The account is said to total more than $1,000 and is to be used to employ outside counsel to help District Attorney Edward W. Thomerson in prosecuting Judge Hamilton.

Friends of the judge insist that the Hamilton's life and that the shooting did not result from a quarrel over fam-ily matters. The judge's counsel indi-cated he would plead self-defense.

Had Forbidden Marriage.

McAlester, Okla., May 8 (A.P.) .- R. H. Hamilton, prominent Texas lawyer, had forbidden the marriage of his daughter, Theresa, 19, to Tom Walton, fr., whom he shot to death at Amarillo, Tex., Saturday, upon learning that the 21-year-old University of Texas student had secretly wed Miss Hamilton, it was revealed here today by Walton's father. "Hamilton said he'd never let his daughter marry beneath him." Tom Walton, sr., said. He already had refused to let them marry, but the boy's mother insisted Tom tell Hamilton as soon as she found out they had been married secretly last February 19. It was when the youth went on this errand to Hamilton's office in Amarilio that he was fatally shot by the lawyer. Walton was buried here yesterday. His mother, who had been unconscious from the shock of her son's death, was noticeably improved today.

The elder Walton indicated to friends his belief that Hamilton opposed the marriage of his daughter because young Walton had no wealth and was not socially prominent. The young widow was in seclusion today at Austin, Tex. She was reported by her mother to be recovering from an operation, which prevented her attending the funeral here.

Hammond, Ind., May 8 (A.P.).—Bul-let-battered, broken bodies of three Chi-cago gunmen were gangland's contribu-tion today to its gruesome gallery of massacre pictures.

The victims were John Scalisi, Robert Anselmi and Joseph Guinta.
Police professed to see in today's triple execution retaliation for the slaying of seven members of George "Bugs" Moran's gaug by machine guns in a north Clark street garage St. Valen-tine's Day, and chalked up the score as hree to seven.

State's . ttorney John A. Swanson at Chicago announced that if the men were found to have been slain in Cook County he would conduct a wide investigation. He regarded the killings as a direct challenge to all law enforcement agencies. The three deaths brought the total of gang killings in Cook County to nineteen this year, about one a week.

Scalisi's death carried an irony unusual even in gangster murders. He was killed while enjoying liberty on a $50,-00 bond, which he sought desperately in order to escape violence at the hands of other prisoners in the county fail. Scalisi and Jack McGurn, also indicted for the murders, believed certain other prisoners had managed to be jailed that they might get revenge on the two.

Killing Scene Reconstructed.

A reconstruction of the killing was given by Dr. Eli S. Jones, coroner's physician, who examined the bodies.

"The three men," he said, "apparently were seated at a table when their killers surprised them. Scalisi threw up his left hand to cover his face and a bullet cut off his little finger and crashed into his eye.

"Another bullet crashed into his jaw and he fell from his chair. Meanwhile the other killers—there must have been three or four—had fired on Guinta and Anselmi, disabling them with bullets in the body. Anselmi's right arm was broken.

Police saw not only revenge in the three deaths, but also the announcement that Moran plans to continue to rule the North Side liquor racket in Chicago. A series of subsequent kill-ings was predicted by Deputy Police

GARY PRIMARY WON BY CONVICTED WET

Former Mayor, Pardoned as He Serves in Atlanta. Scores Big Victory.

JUDGE DUNN IS DEFEATED

Gary, Ind., May 8 (A.P.).—Undaunted by a term in Federal prison as conspirator against the national prohibition act, former Mayor Roswell O. Johnson scored an encore on Gary's political stage today. Opposing Mayor Floyd E. Williams for the Republican mayoral nomination in Tuesday's primary, he won the indorsement of his party and the equivalent of election to his former executive office. Virtually complete returns showed Johnson the winner by 13,303 votes over Williams' 9,766.

The comeback of another "conspirator" was checked. Williams Junn, seeking the Republican candidacy for his old post as municipal judge, was defeated by Herman Key, 4,384 votes to 4,053, on the basis of the count in 54 of 57 precincts. The incumbent, Judge C. M. Greenlee, ran third.

Johnson's new entry into civic affairs despite his penitentiary service at Atlanta was possible by virtue of a presidential pardon. Mayor Johnson, Judge Dunn and 53 others—police, city officials, and others down the gamut to petty bootleggers—were sentenced in April, 1925, as conspirators in a million dollar liquor syndicate. Johnson and his colleagues were convicted of protecting the lesser lights of the beer trade.

The mayor was sentenced to 18

trade.

The mayor was sentenced to 18 minths in prison. He had served six months when a parole set him free, and last February President Coolidge restored his citizenship with a pardon. His right to hold public office was challenged, however, when Johnson announced his intention to campaign for the mayoralty and he went into court and obtained a declaratory judgment upholding this right.

Judge Dunn, unlike his fellow defendants, did not appeal the conviction but served his term of a year and a day and then was given his citizenship privileges by presidential pardon.

wo reasons tor not owning a Packard both unsound!

FIRST-you think you cannot afford a Packard.

sound one.

If you think you cannot afford a Packard there is a welcome surprise awaiting you.

For it actually costs no more to own a Packard Standard Eight over a period of four or five years than to buy and tradein two or three lesser cars during the same time. Take a pencil and paper and figure it out for yourself.

Gasoline, oil and tire costs as between a Packard Standard Eight and any other car down to half its price are substantially the same. It costs no more to garage the Packard, and but little more to insure it. Upkeep and repairs are usually less because Packard factory precision is protected by centralized "instant" lubrication.

The somewhat higher first cost of the Packard Standard Eight over ordinary cars is completely offset by the fact that Packard cars are built to provide and do provide many extra thousands of miles of luxurious, troublefree transportation. Their characteristic beauty of line is always up to date, for Packard has never depreciated cars in service by frequent and radical changes in design.

Most owners, therefore, keep their Packards at least twice as long as the cars they turn in, according to accurate, countrywide records.

These owners wisely enjoy the luxury and distinction of Packard transportation at lesser So if your reason for not owning a Packard is your insistence upon having a new car every two years, regardless-well, it's a reason, but hardly sound.

Because if you buy a new car every 20 months or so, you are not getting full value in motoring luxury for the money you spend. You are paying too many profits and taking too much depreciation. You are paying for a Packard without enjoying Packard beauty, comfort, distinction and performance!

The Packard Standard Eight is priced from $2275 to $2675 at the factory. The Packard Payment Plan is most attractive. Your pride and pleasure in Packard ownership will continue long after the purchase price has been forgotten.

Now, both can satisfy their love of a tower view. Here at The Homestead, rendezvous of the smart world, has just been completed a new ten-story, fireproof Tower, equipped with every luxury that discriminating taste of the day can demand. In it are one hundred and one rooms with bath, overlooking the rolling Southern hills. Seventeen of these have salons, and all are furnished in the Early American period by Freeman Brothers and Marshall Field. The Tower has forty-seven loggias where one may rest and watch the gay life on the hotel grounds below. On the topmost story is a solarium completely outfitted for sun bathing. Three spacious lounging rooms on the main floor are equipped with Vita-glass. Yet the same Colonial charm and elegance which brought fame to The Homestead in the days of Washington and Jefferson, pervades this modern Tower.

Rooms in the new Tower addition are now ready for our guests.

Then there are the baths—as convenient to Tower guests as to all others. The mysterious, invigorating power of Virginia Hot Springs continues to bring new vitality to the thousands of guests who come to The Homestead, wearied by business and social cares. #### THE SAME OLD COMBINE.

The Senate's vote on the debenture plan demonstrates that the same combination that made havoc of President Coolidge's policies is beginning to bedevil President Hoover and the Republican party. The chief mischief-makers are those who call themselves Republicans, but who frequently associate with Democrats to form a temporary majority in defeating the Republican program.

In yesterday's vote the excuse for insurgency was the plea that the debenture plan would bring genuine relief to the farmer and was therefore objectionable to President Hoover and the Republican majority. In the next vote the excuse may be different, but the result will be the same. The object of the insurgents is not to help the farmer or anybody else, but solely to block the program of the Republican President. The same spirit shows itself in the baseless attack upon Secretary Mellon.

Prominent in the roll of those who voted to embarrass President Hoover is the name of Senator Borah. Et tu, Brute! Senator Borah is supposed to have persuaded Mr. Hoover to call this extra session, in order to make good the candidate's promises to bring about farm relief and tariff revision as soon as possible. But the candidate's promises contained no such nonsense as the debenture scheme. Senator Borah presumably accepted Mr. Hoover's plan for farm relief-at any rate he did not raise any objections to it during the campaign. On the contrary, he made the platform ring with eloquent appeals for the election of Hoover. Now, when the opportunity comes to support Mr. Hoover in carrying out the campaign promises, Senator Borah contributes by his vote to the defeat of the Hoover plan for farm relief. If the debenture plan should remain in the bill and a veto should again postpone farm relief, let the blame be laid where it belongs, and not at the door of President Hoover.

The regular Republicans of the Senate, under the leadership of Senator Watson, were faithful to their party, to the President, and to the farmers. If farm relief legislation should be enacted at this session they will be entitled to the credit for it, along with the President and the Republicans of the House. The record will stand. Farm relief has been given a staggering if not fatal blow by the insurgent Republicans and the Democrats of the Senate.

The House would be fully justified in refusing to consider the debenture plan. It is a revenue measure that did not originate in the House as required by the Constitution. It is a thin argument to hold that it is not a revenue measure because it diminishes instead of increasing revenue. With the debenture plan in effect, the first duty of Congress would be to provide additional revenue, by taxation, to meet the drain upon the Treasury. The House would be surrendering its grip upon the Government's purse if it should concede to the Senate the authority to originate revenue bills.

President Hoover's ten-point dissection of the debenture scheme gave a clear indication of his intention to veto it if it should be passed by Congress. His stand against that Treasury grab is supported by an overwhelming majority of the people. Thus, while a combination of Democrats and insurgents in the Senate may prevent farm relief legislation at this session, it can not force through the debenture against the House and the President. The net result of the ate vote of yesterday is to separate and distinguish the true friends of the farmer from his false friends. The comnation that carried the debenture plan into the bill is an enemy of farm relief.

DIRIGIBLES FOR HAWAII.

While the Graf Zeppelin is being made eady for its second flight to the United States, and a British company is speeding to completion the dirigibles R-100 and R-101, designed for transatlantic service on regular schedule, it is announced that American interests have broached a plan to the Government for the construction of two gigantic dirigibles for operation between California and Hawaii. The project remains in the "conversational" stage, but it is said that if the Government indicates its interest to the extent of promising such helps as mail contracts and "other cooperation and encouragement of the type accorded to both domestic and foreign mail operators in the initial stage of the venture," the promoters stand ready to

The California-Hawaii trade route seems made to order for dirigible service. There is a great deal of trade between the United States and its island territory, much of it of an "express" nature. Once the fact had been established that dirigible travel was both safe and dependable, there would be no trouble booking the ships. The weather across the strip of ocean that separates Hawaii from the mainland is usually fair.

Two huge naval dirigibles are under construction and it is suggested that the proposed commercial ships could be built along with them. By distributing the cost of construction among four dirigibles a considerable saving should be possible, both to the Navy and to the commercial operators, for many of the same templets, jigs and dies could be used for all four ships. The ships contemplated for the commercial service would be similar to those being designed for the Navy, with the exception that space utilized in the latter for armament, &c., would be made available for the carrying of between 50 and 100 passengers and between 10,000 and 20,000 pounds of mail, express and baggage.

The Government should study the proposal carefully. Great Britain and Germany have taken the lead in the development of commercial lighter-than-air craft and it is high time that the United States should make a move for the development of the air merchantmen that promise to play such an important part in moving the world traffic of the future.

RELATIONS WITH ARGENTINA.

Dr. Alfredo Colmo, judge of the court of appeals of Argentina, and president of the Argentine-American Cultural Institute, is in the United States delivering lectures under the auspices of the Carnegie endowment for international peace. Dr. Colmo's visit to this country is of special interest to all who belleve in more friendly relations between the Latin-American countries and the United States. This institute, founded in 1928 by certain prominent residents of Buenos Aires, has already proved very successful. It sponsored a lecture in Buenos Aires by Dr. David P. Barrows, former president of the University of California, and also entertained Prof. Clarence Haring, of Harvard University.

One of the most important steps taken by the institute was that of sponsoring the trip of some twenty outstanding Argentine educators who spent six weeks visiting the cultural institutions of this country a few months ago. Furthermore, the institute has offered a prize to the student from the University of Buenos Aires who presents the best paper on mutual understanding between Argentina and the United States. It also sponsors the interchange of students, and through its efforts a considerable sum of money has been given y an anonymous donor to establish two schol arships for students of the University of Buenos Aires who will study agriculture and veterinary medicine, respectively, in the universities of this country.

During Dr. Colmo's visit plans are being made for the foundation in the United States of a similar institute. Dr. Clarence Haring, who is the honorary secretary in this country for the institute, is working with Dr. Colmo to this end, and many of the cultural organizations of international character have expressed interest in the plans.

POOR COMMITTEE WORK.

The Senate judiciary committee has not been able to agree on the eligibility of Secretary Mellon to continue as head of the Treasury Department, and the whole muddled affair will be taken to the floor of the Senate. Three varying reports and the individual views of committee members have been submitted to the Senate, but no attention will be given them until after the census-reapportionment bill has been disposed of. The committee has proved itself unable to deal fairly with the problem, and hope for a sensible decision now ies in the body of the Senate.

Senator McKellar will ask for approval of the Norris report which holds that Mr. Mellon is disqualified because of his security holdings, in spite of the fact that this view was decisively repudiated by the committee. The Senate will also consider the Steiwer report holding that stock ownership does not constitute ineligibility, which report was adopted by the committee, and the report of Senators Borah, King and Dill, which asks for clarification of the

WHY NO RADIOTELEPHONES?

The installation of radiotelephone service on all the crack trains of the Canadian National Railways system calls attention to the fact that the United States is lagging behind other nations in this respect. Americans have been foremost in the development of radio, and this country now has half of the receiving sets in use in the world. It likewise has the finest railroad system in the world. reports from Germany that railway passengers in that country are furnished with rate cards showing the cost of telephoning from moving trains to any part of the country. Wireless telephony has been provided for several years on the railways of Europe. It is difficult to understand why the railroads of this country have overlooked such an obvious convenience to their patrons.

Oswald F. Schuette, executive secretary of the Radio Protective Association, issued a statement following the Canadian National's announcement, charging that "such installations on trains in the United States have been prevented by the radio trust agreements of the Radio Corporation of America, the General Electric Co., the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., and the American Telephone & Telegraph Co." He asserts that the first three mentioned companies have agreed to do nothing in the field of wireless telephony that might compete with the wire lines of the telephone company. "Although American passenger trains are the finest in the world." he observes, "the radio trust has successfully prevented the introduction of this important convenience on any of them."

This is a challenge that should bring forth an explanation from the radio and telephone interests. The American public would like to know the reason why this step toward improvement of communication service has not

RELICS OF WASHINGTON

By DIANA RICE. In the New York Times.

While Mount Vernon properly, no doubt, lays claim to the most distinguished collection of Washingtoniana in the world, other relics of the country's first President are cherished by individuals, societies and city museums. Some of these relics were remembered last week when Gen. Washington's historic gavel -a Mason's maul-figured in a corner stone laying in the National Capital. The gavel belongs to the Potomac Lodge, of Georgetown, oldest Masonic lodge in the District of Columbia. George Washington presented it to the lodge after he had used it in the laying of the Capitol's corner stone in the ceremony of 1793.

Another Masonic lodge, St. John's, of New York City, has in its possession a highly prized memento of the first President. It is the Bible on which Gen. Washington took the oath of office on the balcony of Old Federal Hall in Wall street.

Part of the iron railing around the balcony on which Washington stood on the day he took the oath is in the rooms of the New York Historical Society at 170 Central Park West. The other part is in possession of Bellevue Hospital. Just inside the entrance of the Subtreasury Building is displayed the stone of the balcony on which the first inaugural was staged. The flag carried on that occasion by the Regiment of Honor is in the armor room of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

In the governor's room at City Hall may be seen the furniture that adorned old Federal Hall. It was used by President Washington and his first Cabinet. His dark mahogany desk, or writing table, with six drawers on each side, is there, and against the wall are two high-backed seats, referred to as the inaugural chairs. Washington is said to have sat in one and Vice President John Adams in the other.

Other furniture in the room dating from those early times is in the simple design of Sheraton. In one of the rooms George Washington, in familiar uniform, stands beside his white charger, as John Trumball painted him from life in 1790. Among the relics in the governor's rooms are the desks of John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton, and on the walls facing the dominating Washington canvas hang portraits of other national heroes.

Two blocks down from City Hall is old St. Paul's Chapel, where Washington used to worship. Here one may see the first President's pew, with his coat of arms. It is a New York shrine to which many visitors come year after year.

Reminiscent of the house on Cherry street where Washington lived in 1789 is a chair, now in the New York Historical Society rooms. It was made from the wood of the old house which was the scene of so many gay parties when adjacent Franklin Square drew New York fashionables to its picturesque waterfront neighborhood. Other relics besides the iron railing of old Federal Hall in the possession of the Historical Society include one of the general's earliest orderly books. This book contains orders issued by Washington in 1775-76. Washington's camp bed is another valuable memento of the fighting President's military career that is also in the rooms of the Historical Society. Also there are several letters and manuscripts written by him in 1789 and 1790.

In the Metropolitan Museum of Art are several articles that have been lent by private collectors of Washingtoniana, Among these is a pair of glass decanters from the Cherry street house, and a China tea set which Gen. Washington gave to Nellie Custis on the occasion of her marriage to Lawrence Lewis. A mahogany combination desk and secretary in the American wing that came from the Longfellow House was, according to tradition, used by Gen. Washington when he passed through Cambridge. And it was in the handsome ballroom recently transplanted from Alexandria. Va., to the Museum's American wing that Washington celebrated his last birthday and attended his last ball.

The Jumel Mansion is another New York museum that contains a few of the personal belongings of the Virginian statesman among its treasures. A snuff-box, a sword and a pistol, a lock of hair, and the table behind which Washington stood when he said goodby to his officers at the close of the Revolution are included in the museum's Washing-

IDEAL FLYING AGE.

Though grandfathers and grandmothers can, and do in large numbers, learn to drive automobiles acceptably, it seems altogether unlikely that they will ever make fit airplane pilots, unless, of course, the hazards of aviation are very materially reduced by inventions not yet perfected, observes the New York Herald Tribune. Possible exceptions to this rule will occur, no doubt, in individual cases, especially if youth. But even then the chances of his "cracking up" as the result of inaccuracy of vision or imperfect coordination will be such as to exclude him from the ranks of commercial pilots. Paying passengers will hardly entrust their lives to flyers whose years add another risk to the many inseparable from heavier-than-air flight.

To the Editor of The Post-Sir: Regarding Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson fe-celving his soubriquet, the fact is that Gen. Jackson received this title ("Stonewall") at the first battle of Man (Bull Run) on the Henry farm, a short distance from the Warrenton turnpike now known as the Lee Highway.

This occurred when the Co advance was being pressed back by the overwhelming Union forces and before the Confederate army had reached the field, Gen. Jackson had arrived and formed in line of battle. Gen. Bee (killed in the same battle), in rallying his retreating troops, said, "See Jackwall." This was known throughout the

One visitor wished to see the stonewall behind which Gen. ackson stood, whereas there never was wished to see the spot where Gen. Jackson was killed, whereas, Stonewall Jackson died from wounds received at the battle of Chancellorsville

Not a High Tariff But Usury Is the Trouble With This Country, Says a Bryan Democrat.

WILL C. BARNES.

To the Editor of The Post-Sir: Some onths ago-during the presidential campaign-I wrote a letter to The Post, which, in an editorial put the Democratic party, because of some unwise utterance of Smith on the tariff question, in the Republican column. That letter for some reason best known to The Post was never published. In it, I said, I was one Democrat who could not be put in the Republican party on that question, not that I did not believe in incidental protection to infant industries, but that I did not believe in a prohibitive tariff which made millionaires and paupers. Also, I said that the word "protection" as understood by the average man was the most seductive and alluring word in the English language, since, instead of protecting himself it was daily robbing him. Having convinced Arthur Brisbane of the correctness of my diagnosis of the business situation, I quote the following paragraph from his daily colown this morning: 'That usury should be practiced habitually, in the richest city in the world, with no official rebuke, is a disgrace to this country. It should be somebody's business to make it illegal for banks or any other lender to charge a rate that pawnbrokers are not allowed to charge." and, might I add, should be ashamed

This committee, including among its members Dr. George W. Truett, of Dailas, Tex., president of the convention, was faced by the necessity of compiling a report on the many questions which have come before it.

Members declined to announce decisions they had made, but said that among the proposals before them were several suggesting means for changing the status of the home missions board, langing from combination with the foreign missions board to liquidation of all the present board's assets and the use of its funds in other church work. Twenty-two Sweethearts Are Seized in Park, but Magistrate Frees Them All.

New York, May 8 (U.P.).—Twenty-two sailors and 22 sailors' sweethearts are ready to enshrine Magistrate Earl Smith as patron saint of the United States fleet.

The fact that the fleet is on shore leave was brought rather forcibly to the attention of Magistrate Smith to-day when a squad of policewomen and policemen unceremoniously showed in-to his courtroom the victims of an exto his courtroom the victims of an extesnive raid on the Riverside Drive park benches. Twenty-two sweethearts appeared before the magistrates, but no sailors. Magistrate Smith frowned. "I understand," he said, "that all of you have known the saidors you were with for many years; that you were rejoicing to be together again when you were interrupted."

The jaws of 22 girls ranging from 17 to 21 years of age dropped slightly. "That is very well and good," the magistrate went on, "but there are some bad women in New York. We must protect the fleet. You can understand that. In the future, girls, will you do me a favor?"

"Wee Willie" Robyns an artist of fine attainment and reputation, is restricted to a single number, when his popularity here—and the applause accorded him at every performane—would warrant three and an encore. It is not my purpose in this letter to put in a gratuitous rap for any act, but there are two on your current bill that could be dropped in favor of an extended opportunity for Mr. Robyn with no more dire consequence than affording your audiences diversion much more in consonance with their ideas of desirability and uniform excellence than is now being done.

What I mean to say is that you could have the cost of a couple of acts per week, give those who do appear enough time to do their stuff in the manner and to the extent they are accustomed.

This, at least, is what I make out of what has been written, phoned and said to me, since I implied in print that occasionally the Fox is not 100 per cent of what it might be.

And if you say I am crazy, that it is none of my business and that I have an awful nerve to mess around in your affairs this way, good friend, I shall agree with you absolutely. In the meantime, believe me, sincerely yours.

Twenty years ago, Washington theater goers got their first glimpse of Henri Bernstein's dramatic play, "The Thief," in which Kyrle Bellew was the star, with Effie Shannon the featured player. In that same cast were Her-bert Kelcey and Eugene O'Brien, later to become famous as a motion picture actor. Charles Prohman was the pro-

Announcement is made by the management of the National Theater Players that "The Thist" will be the next attraction, following the current success, William Anthony Maguire's play. "It's a Boy," which is being well received by patrons at the National. Addison Pitt, director of the National Theater Players, has harbored a secret ambition for many years, and this is to be fulfilled in the production of "The Thief," which Mr. Pitt claims to be one of the really great plays of the twentieth century. It is really a companion piece to "Raffles," and ran a full ten months at the Lyceum Theater in New York, when yearly runs were something almost unheard of; only a wave of warm weather running it off Broadway.

"The Thief" has to do with a woman weakened morally by her overpowering love for her husband. It contains a novel second act wherein only two persons, the husband and the wife, dominate the entire action.

An old National Theater Players' favorite, Mr. Edward Arnold, will return to Washington to play the role of the detective in "The Thief," which offers two sterling character portrayls for the new leading player-combination, Miss Edith King and Mr. Roger Bryor. The usual matinees on Wednesday and Saturday will be given.

ment yesterday withheld publication of the award.

As arbitrator Judge Hale communicated his findings to both governments. Before he initiated proceedings, the State Department required the Cuban government to put up a cash bond of $150,000 as an evidence of good faith.

Capt. Smith had a beautiful home adjoining the Havana Yacht Club. A second house on the land was rented. Both buildings were razed, the seizure having been made on pretext of expropriation for a public purpose. The Cuban courts ruled that the seizure was not for a public purpose and directed that the property be returned to Capt. Smith. Until now he has been closed.

THE RETURN OF OLD KING BRADY

Revived by MERLE W. HERSEY.

In the fourth chapter Young King Brady proves he is a friend to Charley when the boy is shot by an unseen assailant. Grayball is suspected and tries to evade the outlaw gang. Harry is sent in pursuit of him and captures him.

DARING WORK IN DEATH VALLEY. CHAPTER V.

After the Raid at Burton Mills.

OLD KING BRADY quickly explained to the mill men just what had happened and they entered heartily into the old detective's plan. The engineer, Maddox, locked Downs up in the engineroom, from which escape was almost impos-

"Hold on!" cried Old King Brady to the men who started to break for the door. "I've got an idea. How far will that standpipe throw water? Suppose we give those men a dose of cold water this time, instead of bullets?"

"I't will throw clean over the fence—a stream as big around as a man's arm." said Buck Bellows.

"Then we'll do it." said Old King Brady. "Get right at it. Tom. Give it to them right in the face."

Old King Brady ran upstairs where he could watch the performance. As near as he could make out Harry was not with the gang of outlaws, nor could he see the well-dressed stranger of the evening before. They were coming rapidly down the hill. Capt. Thunderboit in the lead.

In a moment the water began to fly. In less time than it takes to tell of it the water descended upon the outlaws. It checked their speed somewhat, but they dashed bravely on.

"Shorten your stream." called Old King Brady. "Drop it as close outside the fence as you can."

The effect can readily be imagined. The outlaws stood it for a minute or two, then there was a stampede. Soon the last of the band had disappeared around the bend in the trail.

"And that is the last we shall see of the scoundrels," declared Old King Brady as he joined the men at the pump house. "I'm going in to have another talk with Mr. Downs, boys, so keep a sharp watch out until I join you again."

The rascally superintendent was as sullen as ever. He refused to answer when marker to but Old King Brady.

Downs hesitated for a few minutes. "I agree," he said at last.

"Well, where has it been taken?"

"To Death Valley, to be held until Capt. Thunderbolt could arrange to dispose of it."

"Where is Death Valley?

"Where is Death Valley? Can you lead us to it?" "I was never there, but I can find out for you. There is a girl engaged to marry Capt. Thunderbolt; she hates im and loves me. She will give the screet to me. If you will take me to ser, we will show you the way into besth Valley."

"I believe we can put Capt. Thunderboit out of business, sure thing." he said. "Now we'll have breakfast so as to have everything shipshape when we are ready to start."

By 6 o'clock they were on the move. Thirty-two men from the mill and his three men accompanied Old Ring guided by Dan McNutt and three Brady up the Tensleep trail. They were out for Capt. Thunderbolt. They were out for Capt. Thunderbolt. They were bound for the mysterious Death Valley, of which all had heard, the location of which no one seemed to keep how.

Meanwhile the mill men had opened fire on the attacking party and three men lay dead on the round as a result of the truth or not."

Then you see how mistaken you were," said Young King Brady coolly. The men had retreated for a while.

He went into the office and soon the mill men began to file in. They were greatly excited and all tried to talk at once. The old detective wasted not immediate and recover the stoden bullion.

WITH the major part of the world intent on vacation plans and busy with summer wardrobes, it is the truly wise woman who divorces her attention from these details to choose a town ensemble. like a remnant of a past season.

For town wear during the late spring and the summer, navy blue is unexcelled. It is a very chic color and one, that is equally practical. The model illustrated achieves distinction through its ingenious use of small horizontal and diagonal tucks. Circular sides to the skirt and a bow at the neck-line give a smart fare to the costume.

The bag and shoe combination chosen to complement the costume in the skech are in perfect armony with the costume. Both are harmony with the costume. # Last Ballot Sunday on Radio Vote

Post's Second Annual Contest Will Be Concluded That Day; Listeners Get Opportunity to Ex-Press Opinions.

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

The last ballot of The Post's second annual voting contest for the most popular radio features will be printed in The Post Sunday. It offers listeners the

The Post Sunday. It offers listeners the final opportunity to express their preferences for or against radio programs which are being broadcast nightly. A novel feature of the contest and one which hundreds of Post readers are availing themselves, is the chance to register a negative vote.

"It is a fine idea to get the votes." Mrs. E. E. Clark, of Rockville, Md., writes, "but what good does it do?"

The answer to that question may be found in the fact that radio program directors bombarded by letters from listeners of diversified tastes naturally become hardened to criticism. Likewise because of the pressure of other duties these program directors very often do not have an opportunity to classify the complaints. Nor on the other hand do they have any definite way of appraising the applause.

It was quite a blow to radio listeners recently when they learned that the Federal Radio Commission had applied to Congress for permission to destroy the hundreds of thousands of fan letters received as "useless paper." It is this writer's opinion that the members of the radio commission hardly had a chance to look at, much less read, even a small percentage of these letters because of the heavy demands made by a small percentage of these letters be-cause of the heavy demands made by their other duties. Even if they had, so far as the program complaints were concerned, they would be helpless be-cause the commission has not the power of censorship and can not say what may or may not be broadcast in the way of ntertainment.
The results of The Post contest will first of all offer a cross-section of lis-teners' opinions carefully tabulated. Not the views of a half dozen or a dozen dissatisfied persons who may be in the habit of complaining, but the expression of hundreds who heretofore likely have not been heard from.

Second, while of course station program managers and others interested will be acquainted with the results. The Post in an effort to further serve its radio readers, proposes to acquaint the sponsors of the programs with the results. These are the people who are making a constant effort to sense public opinion. They are anaequing their cond making a constant effort to sense public opinion. They are spending their good money to put these programs on the air and well know that by a twist of the dial any listener may tune out their program, regardless of how much it may have cost to put that program on the air. It hardly needs to be added that these programs with analyze with that these sponsors will analyze with care such a tabulation of public opin-ion as The Post will be able to offer, especially the negative votes, Therefore, it would seem to be well worth the while of the listeners taking the trouble to cast their ballots.

In the meantime much interesting comment continues to come to us with the ballots. "I have trouble in get-ting WMAL and WOL." writes H. A Dobson 3d, 1343 Clifton street northwest, "on account of WRC's interfer-

This would have kept the Trey of Spades in Closed hand for the fourth round and dummy could have won that trick with the Four and in that way obtained a second and in that way obtained a second chance to lead Hearts for a second that the second that way, a small slam would have resulted. It is most important for a Declarer to utilize all possible entries in dummy; leads from that hand are apt to be most essential. (Copyright, 1929.)

WINTER ITCH. Mrs. J. B. C. writes: What do you recommend for a cure for winter itch? REPLY.

Working in a greenhouse cures win-ter itch. If you have one, start your spring garden in it. By doing so you will cure your itch, get the start on your neighbors and provide an early supply of fresh vegetables to purify our blood and cure you of any scurvy, beriberi, neuralgic pains and constipa-tion that the winter may have sup-(Copyright, 1929.)

Stock Market Again Struggles With 14 Per Cent Call Money Rate.

FEW ISSUES ARE STRONG

New York, May 8 (A.P.).—The stock market struggled with 14 per cent call money for the second successive day today. Pools again made vigorous efforts in a few sections of the list, but were unable to attract a following or the check a small but negigiant stream.

were unable to attract a following or to check a small but persistent stream of selling. Total sales again fell short of $,500,000 shares.

The market displayed more resistance than it did yesterday, the gains a little more than offsetting the losses. Large buying orders placed just under the market in important issues by investment trusts are believed to have provided a cushion for the decline.

The fact that call money failed to come down was both puzzling and disappointing to traders. The high rate had been expected to attract funds from the interior by today at least, and that none have been forthcoming found no other explanation than the speculative credit curtailment operations of the Federal Reserve officials. Three of the large New York banks were-said to be loaned up to the hilt at the reserve bank.

Unessiness Over Increase.

Uneasiness Over Increase.

Uneasiness Over Increase.

The only sign of improvement was the failure of yesterday's advances of ½ of 1 per cent in bankers acceptance rate to hold for the 150 and 180 day maturities. There was continued uneasiness over the possibility of an increase in the New York discount rate tomorrow, and it was taken for granted that brokers loans would show another substantial increase, particularly in view of the recent volume of new stock offerings. The fact that the Boston bank made no change in its rate after the close today was somewhat reassuring.

Aside from less cheerful reports from the reparations conference, the day's news was generally favorable. American Sugar Refining resumed common dividends on $5 annual basis, after a lapse of more than a year. The steel trade reviews said that no decline in production had appeared. American Metal Market said, however, that "some observers are convinced that a decline in automobile produc-that "some observers are convinced that a decline in automobile production, which can not be postponed many weeks, will have far reaching consequences, both directly and through a sentimental influence." Iron

Most baseball veterans lag superfluous on the scene until they chased into retirement. Such is their zest for the game that the ma-lority coast down into the bushes, even though they are financially independ-ent and are interested in business en-ent and are interested in business enterprises that really need their attention. It is no rarity to see a former major leaguer toiling in lowly leagues of the twilight classification. When he hung up his uniform at the age of 43 years last winter Ty Cobb, the richest player in the game, explained that the only reason he was quitting baseball was that he no longer could stand the physical strain.

"No player can go very far in baseball unless he loves the game for its own sake, and when it gets to be irksome, he is through," said Cobb.

A conspicuous exception to the rule is Grover Alexander, still a Cardinal pitching mainstay at the age of 42 years.

particular thrill for me," says Alexander. "It's a job, and, like any other job, you work hard at it because it's your livelihood and you need the dough that's in it. When I'm through as a pitcher, I might buy a string of gasoline stations or a hardware store and I'll bet I'd get as many thrills out of it as I do out of baseball."

And, come to think of it, old Alex seemed positively bored that October day after a very, very hard night before when he ambled into the box, struck out Lazzeri, of the Yanks, to clinch the 1926 world's series for the Cardinals, and ambled nonchalantly out again. To the thousands who saw it, it was a thrilling exploit, but to old Alexander the Great just a little extra chore he had been called upon to do when he had believed that his season's toil had ended the afternoon before.

Four pirates reached first base on Hubbell, and a fifth registered a technical arrival at that station—Lloyd Waner, who forced Adams for the third out in the third after Sparky had walked. Pimilico, Md., May 8.—The Preakness, regarded as the blue ribbon classe of Eastern racing, remains the chief topic of conversation here at the Pimilico racing strip. Rail birds discuss the event in the early hours from every angle and they all arrive at one conclusion, every formidable candidate was an ordinary juvenile and any one can win the race. With such stars as Blue Larkspur, Neddle, High Strung, Mei Poo and Twink out of the running, the race has but little color compared to former events, going over some of the candidates' records we find.

Harry Payne Whitney's Bargello was injured in New York this morning and will not be able to participate in the Preakness.

DIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., May PiMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., May 8.—Mrs. Elimer Trueman's silks were carried to victory in the best race of a featureless card, when the fractious Searcher, with Jockey P. McGinnis up, won the six-furlong dash of the fifth race programed as the second division of the Pimlico Graded Handicap. Beaten by a length and a quarter came Lieut. Searcher did his accustomed stunts before the barrier and delayed the start when "Long Taw" Welter, assistant starter, could not keep the son of Purchase in the stalls. Finally he was ordered to be taken outside by Starter Milton and he got a fair break for the first time during the meating.

BOND PRICES MOVE DOWN IRREGULARLY

Most of Brisk Trading Centers in Few Semispeculative Convertibles.

FOREIGN GROUP SOFTENS

New York, May 8 (A.P.).—Bonds listed on the exchange were turned over actively in another busy session today with prices continuing to move irregularly lower. As in previous sessions, most of the action was in a few semispeculative convertibles and specially attractive investment issues.

Traders looking for speculative profit found plenty to attract their attention in the fast-moving convertibles. The stock feature issues fluctuated rapidly all through the session, mostly in keeping with stock movements. With 14 per cent call money serving as a reminder of continued credit tightness, investors were not disposed to take the standard investment issues except at price concessions.

as a reminder of continued creat tightness, investors were not disposed to take the standard investment issues except at price concessions.

United States Government obligations particularly reflected the state of the money market. With liquidation in evidence, they recorded further losses ranging from 2-32 to 15-32 in most issues where there was any sizable turnover.

Among the most active convertibles, American I. C. Chemical 5½s railied nearly a point after their recent decline. Alleghany Corporation 5s, American International 5½s, American Telephone 4½s and Atchison 4½s sold a little lower with stocks, coincident with the stockholders' annual meeting, International Telephone 4½s continued active at higher prices.

Transcontinental Oil 6½s, with warrants, became active and recorded a 2-point gain in response to a run-up of the stock, American Beet Sugar 6s, an inactive issue, ran up 3 points to a new high at 90 on reports of proposed legislation for a higher tariff on augar. Cuban sugar issues, on the same reports, were weak.

A substantial part of the day's trading was in a few rails. St, Paul Adjustment 5s gained fractionally but Missouri Pacific convertible 5½s, Prisco 4½s and Texas & Pacific 5s found buyers only at lower prices.

Foreign issues were soft with the rest of the market. The downward trend was apparent in such loans as French Republic 7½s, off ½; German Republic 7s, off ¾, and Swiss Government 5½s, off 1½. Indications of another hitch in the reparations discussions influenced the weakness of the European issues.

One of her greatest opportunities for service, Mrs. Hoover declared, had come to her as a result of her membership on the rural education committee of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, of which Miss Florence E. American Business Club Maps Campaign; Later to Seek Pedestrians' Arrest.

POLICE ACTION IS SOUGHT

An educational campaign to acquaint edestrians with the need for obeying traffic laws will be launched by the Washington Chapter of the American Business Club, probably by the end of this week, following expected cooperation from the Trafac Bureau.

The organization, at its weekly luncheon at the University Club, yesterday, framed a letter to the Trafac Bureau asking its support for the drive in view of the heavy toll in trafac accidents since January 1, in Washington. Twenty-nine trafac fatalities were listed, with 22 pedestrians at fault among the 25 in this number, aside from more than 600 others injured in trafac accidents.

Sam A. Syme, secretary of the American Business Club, said the assistance of the Trafac Bureau had been profered tentatively by M. O. Eldridge, assistant director, and that the latter's formal announcement of support would pave the way for the campaign's start, probably by Saturday.

Under the plan, an adequate number of other policemen would be stationed at important crossings controlled by lights to warn pedestrians of traffic dangers. Tickets of arrest to the law-breaking walkers would be issued ultimately, if the initial drive falls, according to
